

THE COLLEGE MUSIC SOCIETY

CMS Inaugural Summit

Music Entrepreneurship Education: Catching the Second Wave

The College Music Society will hold its inaugural Summit January 15-17, 2010, at Vanderbilt University's Blair School of Music in Nashville, Tennessee. This will be a joint Music Entrepreneurship conference with the United States Association for Small Business and Entrepreneurship (USASBE).

CMS Summits explore deeply a specific issue in music in higher education. The 2009 Summit will provide the opportunity to consider Entrepreneurship Education from the perspective of those interested in developing their own programs. The Summit is designed to be highly interactive, with ample opportunity to explore ideas and questions with leaders in the field. All aspects of program development – including philosophical structuring, communication strategies with students and faculty, funding, aesthetic traditions in music training, definitions of entrepreneurship, curriculum, and other important considerations – will be discussed.

The Summit is designed for those who teach, will teach, or administer entrepreneurship programs or courses in music units. Since entrepreneurship is taught by instructors in both music and business schools, the Summit will provide a forum for educators from both disciplines, focusing on the strengths and traditions of each discipline.

❖ COMMON TABLE DISPLAY ❖

Exhibits of resource materials will be an important part of the 2009 Summit. Exhibitors wishing to display resource materials (e.g., books, textbooks, recordings, CDs, DVDs, teaching resources and materials) are welcome to apply for space on the common display tables. The enclosed application form should be completed and returned with payment. Shipping instructions will be provided when the application is received.

Don't miss this unique display opportunity!
